Governor Hails New Bridge As Important Milestone

Dedication of the new four-lane Bay St. Louis bridge on August 1st marks an important milestone in Mississippi's mammoth highway program which was launched back in 1936 during my first administration as Governor.

Seventeen years ago paved highways were few and far between in the Southland with 7,000 mile system of paved routes unequalled. The completion of this modern concrete span marks another first for the State - the first four-lane concrete highway bridge along the Central Gulf Coast. This is an important link in our highway system which probably carries more traffic through the State than any other single highway.

I would like to take occasion to express my appreciation to the Highway Commission and to all the other local and federal agencies and organizations which have worked to make this dream a reality.

HUGH WHITE
Governor

25 YEARS AGO—This photo was taken of the old bridge when it was new - just a few weeks before it was completed. The photo was made by Vincent J. Lagroue before the railings were ready.

Remember When A Car Cost $495? A Radio $90?

It was 1928, and they were ready to dedicate the wonderful bi-county bridge. The people of Bay St. Louis were overjoyed. No longer would they have to ride the ferry to Pass Christian. The Sea Coast Echo, in a special edition like this one, said, "The Sea Coast Echo, like the people of its county and city, joins in the dedication of this bridge to generations to come, even though the structure be succeeded by others in order to meet the penalty of time."

Tomorrow the new bridge will pay the penalty of time, and will be replaced by a new one.

What was Bay St. Louis like in 1928? The Sea Coast Echo tells some interesting tales.

For example, the Bay Chevrolet Company was advertising the super coach for $585. The touring roadster was even cheaper - $495. And, for some reason, the company also was selling the chassis only to anyone who wanted to buy one.

Ford had announced that the "super modern" Model A was a success. It would be as good as the Model T, Ford promised.

The Plaza Brothers were announcing the grand opening of their barber shop March 5. Of course, that barber shop is still in business.

The A & G Theatre was a shining new building. Billie Dove, Gilbert Roland and Noah Beery were appearing in "Love Mary" the week old bridge was dedicated. There was talk of building a new Union Station in New Orleans—they finally built it too - 26 years later.

Charles Traub, Sr., was mayor of Bay St. Louis. H. S. Weston was chairman of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Postmaster H. C. Glover had just announced that Bay St. Louis soon would get free mail delivery. He warned that everyone in town would have to buy a mail box. The houses had just been numbered for the first time.

A chemist had just pronounced Bay St. Louis' drinking water "the finest in the land."

Calvin Coolidge was President of the United States, and he signed a bill authorizing the first bridge across the Mississippi River at Baton Rouge.

In a way, history repeats. For back in '28, Prof. S. J. Ingram was superintendent of schools. He was proudest of a $72,000 new high school. It's called the "old" school now—but he's kept pace with history.

With a new bridge being dedicated, he is proudest today of an under-construction new elementary school. The cost? Also, $72,000, although he gets a lot less for his money today.

Dresses were selling from $2.49 to $14.98 back then.

But the wonder of wonders was a new six-tube radio for $90. The advertisement was proud. "No batteries," it shouted. "Just plug it in."

A lot of water has gone under the bridge (and a lot of fire has gone over it) since 1928.

Simmons Resigns As Kiln School Superintendent Board Refused 2 Yr. Contract

W. M. Simmons has resigned as superintendent and coach at Kiln school because the Board of Trustees refused to give him a two-year contract.

He said "no plausible excuse was given by them."

Mr. Simmons was given a farewell party Monday night. Mrs. Evelyn Weston, president of the Kiln Community Club, welcomed the guests. Judge Frank Self and Hayward Lachner, a Kiln graduate, also spoke, citing Mr. Simmons' accomplishments. He was given a plaque hailing his "untiring efforts."

The plaque said: "To Mr. W. M. Simmons in appreciation of his untiring efforts as the Superintendent of Kiln School, who raised the standing of the school in one session from a 'C' to a 'B' School; and as our basketball coach, whose team won 28 games out of 32 last season (the first time in 19 years Kiln has had a winning boys' basketball team), and who has endeared himself to all of us."

Pass Improvement Ass'n. Is Formed

A meeting of the Pass Christian Civic Improvement Association was held Tuesday at the Pass Christian City Hall, with John M. Parker, Jr. as Chairman, Robert DeMetz, vice-chairman and George E. Morce, Secretary-Treasurer.

This new organization is to be composed of all residents, property owners and citizens of the City of Pass Christian. In the future, it is the hope of the organization to extend its membership to residents in neighboring areas whose problems are similar to those confronting the people of Pass Christian.

The purpose of this Organization is to plan for and work toward an ideal community wherein its people can successfully work, live, circulate and play.

Hillere Gaudin In Hospital

Mr. Gaudin, whose residence is on the Old Spanish Trail, suffered his attack early in the morning. He was rushed to the Biloxi hospital by Fahey's ambulance at approximately 11 a. m.

Pass Lions Club Honored by VFW

The Pass Lions Club received a community service award from the Cecil R. Ruddock Post No. 5391 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, its installation of officers meeting last night.

The award, presented by Commander Ralph Gordon, was given in recognition of its aid to the city, particularly in securing a respirator for the use of the public.

Mrs. Mocklin Dies At 65

Mrs. James Mocklin, 65, died Wednesday night at King's Daughters Hospital after suffering a stroke earlier in the day.

A resident of Waveland, Mrs. Mocklin was rushed to the hospital in the afternoon by Fahey's ambulance. She died at 6:45 p. m.

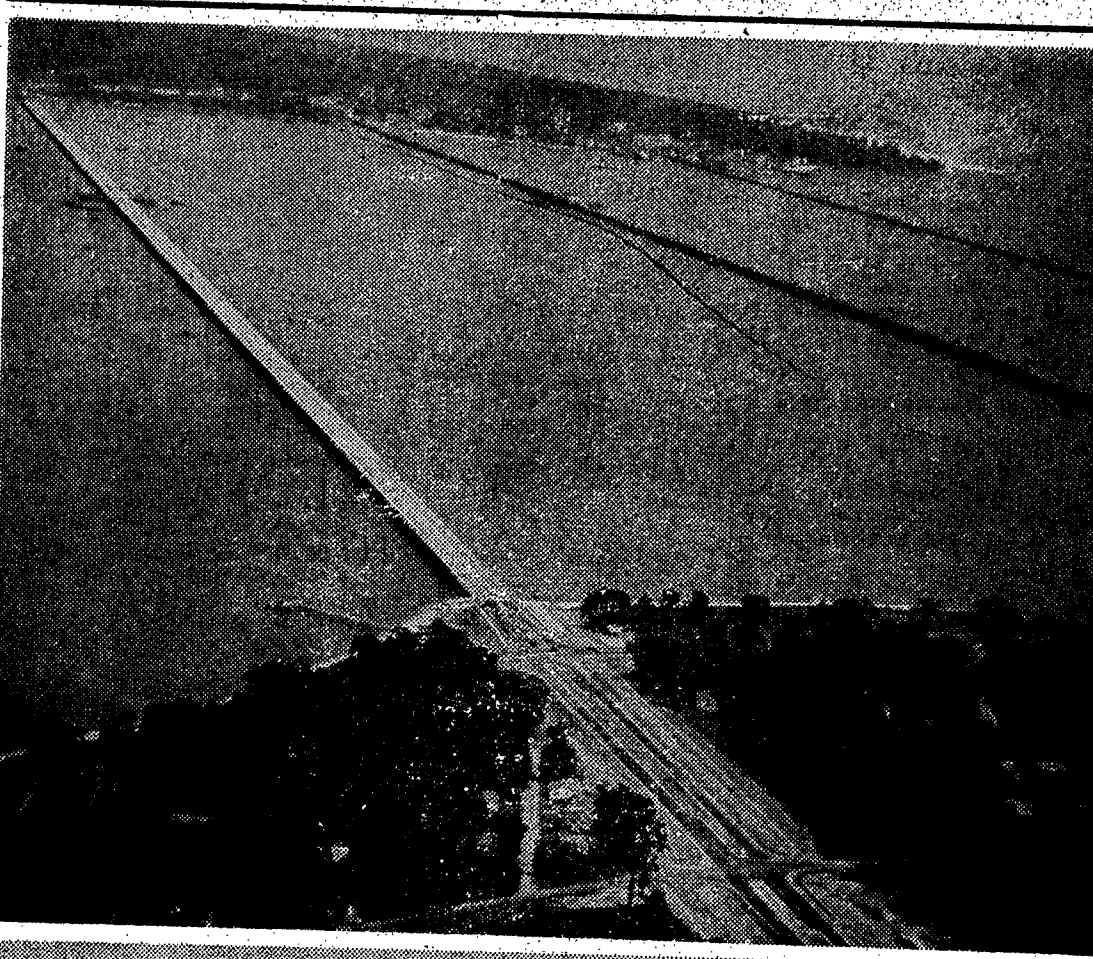

The body was taken to a New Orleans funeral home and will later be interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

William Corr Injured In Crash

William C. Corr, 18, of Bay St. Louis was taken to King's Daughters hospital for emergency treatment after the automobile he was driving wrecked on Sears avenue, in Waveland Sunday night.

Corr, according to Constable No. 14, Kingston, was driving down Sears avenue when he lost control of his vehicle, hit a culvert, ran into a ditch and turned over.

New $9,200,000 Bridge Set For Dedication And Opening Tomorrow

FERRYBOAT SERENADE PLAYED BY JAZZ GREATS Good Ship Cecil Bean Preceded Bridge

Few people in Hancock or Harrison Counties carry nostalgic memories about the wooden bridge which will be replaced tomorrow when traffic begins to cross the new concrete structure some 500 yards away.

But since last week, when the Echo asked for old photographs of the Gulf Coast, it has become apparent that many people have fond memories of the days when the good ferry Cecil N. Bean plowed the waters of the Bay of St. Louis.

"Sure we had dances on the ferry," Vincent Lagroue said when he brought in four snapshots of the Cecil N. Bean and the wooden bridge before its completion in 1928.

"Yes, I remember we used to have a fella played for us—name was something like Ce-la-tan."

Of course, the younger generation would recognize this as being the beloved trumpet player, from New Orleans, Papa Celestin. Papa, incidentally, is scheduled to play at the Teen-Age club in Bay St. Louis, Aug. 7.

"There was another one," Mr. Lagroue said, searing his memory. "He's a big star out in Holmanow."

"Louis Armstrong," the younger generation quickly offered.

"Yes, that's him," Mr. Lagroue confirmed this, with a picture of the ferry landing at deMontluzin Street. Now all that stands are the piles on which the wharf rested.

Even before the Cecil N. Bean ran from Bay St. Louis to Henderson Point road travel had to detour around the Bay to get to the other side. The wooden bridge seemed to solve that problem, especially as a forerunner to the concrete structure, but a price was paid, a price that many, even of the younger, "speed" generation feel may have been too high.

For they had to give up the weekly dances on the Cecil N. Bean, with Papa Celestin or Louis Armstrong providing the downbeat.

Gala ceremonies mark the dedication of the new Bay St. Louis four-lane bridge beginning at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, but it will be midnight before cars start rolling through the toll stations to mark the end of an era.

The weather forecast calls for possible scattered thundershowers. O. W. Delph, chairman of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and the man who heads the ceremonies committee, said a canopy covers the speakers' stand and it may be possible to interrupt the ceremonies temporarily to let a shower blow over.

Mr. Delph cited the heads of his individual committees for their vital work in making the occasion possible.

The old bridge, which was getting downright famous for its deep holes and many fires, has served the motoring public since 1928. But tomorrow the old order changeth, and the latest thing in bridge construction will be unveiled to the public.

The $9,200,000 structure, built under the direction of Merritt Chapman & Scott, is part of a four-lane expressway which will eventually go from Mobile to New Orleans. Original plans called for it to open to the public at 8 p. m., after the ceremonies.

But construction delays will prevent this.

Actually, the preliminary schedule called for the opening of the bridge July 1. But this was delayed because of soft spots. Fillings were driven 165 feet as a result.

On the other hand, Construction Superintendent Rod Hand said things could have been worse. "We were blessed by good weather," he said.

He credits William Denny, executive vice-president and general manager, and Charles A. Richardson, vice-president, of his firm for key direction.

Most of the 280 employees were from the Gulf Coast.

Hand calls this a "mass production" bridge because of the unique system by which parts were constructed at Henderson Point and floated into place.

Flag-bedecked Bay St. Louis will be the site of the dedication ceremonies.

With the Gulfport Municipal Band playing music, the coast motorcade will arrive at 2:30 p. m. to start the ceremonies. The Rev. Charles R. Johnson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis, will deliver the invocation. The Clement R. Bon Temps Post of the American Legion will advance the colors, and the National Anthem will be played.

Attorney D. M. Russell, Jr., of Bay St. Louis, the master of ceremonies, will give the address of welcome. Lt. Gov. Carroll Garlin and Highway Commissioner John D. Smith will speak.

Then comes Messrs. Harrie Davis of Pascagoula, Dona Eglint of Ocean Springs, Sandra Lee of Biloxi and Billie Joyce Rhodes of Gulfport will merge waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Fountain of Youth.

Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab, of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, will present a historical marker to the City of Bay St. Louis. Mayor John Scalfie will accept it for the city.

Recognition of Dean McLemore of Mississippi Southern and Prof. T. J. Broadus of Pass Christian will follow, and Irma Joan Lee, Bay St. Louis' Miss Hospitality, will unveil the marker.

Commissioner Smith, Miss Hospitality (Edna Khatay of Moss Point) and Miss Mississippi (Suzanne Dugger of Piquette) will cut the ribbon.

Monsignor Andrew J. Gmelch of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will deliver the benediction.

The Lions Club will pass out souvenirs of the occasion to the first motorists through. This job will not be completed until Sunday.

Radio Station WCCM of Gulfport will broadcast the entire ceremony. Station WVL and WSBM of New Orleans will broadcast part of ceremonies. WBSB-TV will make films to be shown on television Sunday night.

Color bearers Joe Compagna and Sam Benigno and Color Guards Leroy Luke and Paul Taconi have been assigned by the American Legion to participate in the flag ceremonies.

John D. Rutherford, commander of the 17th district, and John Kidd, Post Commander

State College, Miss.—Continued rains have increased the boll weevil infestation count to damaging numbers in many years, according to A. G. Bennett, Extension entomologist, who points out that ballworms may also increase to damaging numbers during moist weather.

MISSISSIPPI FORESTS GROW

The State of Mississippi challenges any other state with regard to forest tree seedling plantings during the 1952-1953 planting season. This was made known by C. B. Marlin, forest management director, Mississippi Forestry Commission after compiling the annual report of all seedlings planted within the State. Marlin said that 75,200,000 seedlings were planted on 70,307 acres of unproductive, eroding and barren land.

Two Men Died Building Bridge

Two men died in the construction of the $9,200,000 bridge which will be dedicated tomorrow.

Killed were Roy Hilliard, 32, of Ohio and Cliff H. Sims, 48, of Pass Christian.

Both men were victims of drowning. Hilliard received a blow on the head and fell into the water. Rescuers were unable to save him.

Sims fell overboard from a barge. Although life preservers were thrown to him, he drowned.

In spite of these two tragedies, project manager Rod M. Hand said he thought the safety record for the bridge was a "very, very good one. Insurance companies considered that a good record. Other accidents which we had were very minor."

PASS-LONG BEACH 4-LANE ROAD WILL BE PARTIALLY OPEN BY OCT. 1

Still more improvements are planned for Mississippi's share of the Old Spanish Trail - U. S. Highway 90 - which crosses the southern part of the nation.

Part of the Pass Christian four-lane stretch will be completed Oct. 1.

And the crowded area between Pascagoula and the Mississippi-Alabama state line also will be four-laned.

There's a four-lane stretch now leading out of Mobile. The area from Biloxi to just outside Pass Christian is four lane.

The Pass Christian four-lane project was started last spring. Already the drainage work has been finished and construction men will start pouring concrete next week.

The South-lane will be completed by Oct. 1. By next summer the entire road will be in use.

This, along with the Pascagoula-

Alabama stretch, will leave only one big hole in a four-lane route from Mobile to New Orleans. This is from Bay St. Louis to Orleans Parish.

The Pass Christian-to-Long Beach stretch is costing $1,143,834.11. It runs 6.331 miles.

Bower and Johnson of Jackson, Tenn., are the principal contractors working on this. The contract was awarded Jan. 27, 1953, and the progress has been impressive for Pass Christian and Long Beach citizens watching the day-to-day operations.

The four-lane work from Pascagoula East is much needed. The present road is 30 years old, and is jammed under even ideal conditions. Heavy vacation and holiday travel make it almost a solid stream of automobiles.

The industrialization of Pascagoula and Moss Point have made the road needed even more than when it was needed as a vacation artery to serve the heavy Gulf Coast traffic.

The Long Beach-Pass Christian 18 1/2 miles of road will be 40 miles per hour territory, as is most of the coast highway. But the modern system of exits, eliminating the cross-road hazards, should make the traffic flow into the new bridge smooth.

One problem is the three classes of traffic.

You have:

1. Through drivers, going from Mobile to New Orleans.

2. Local traffic, using the highway as a city street.

3. Tourist traffic, cruising along the Gulf.

It's difficult to achieve a common speed for the three. The four lanes should permit all three types of traffic to use the same highway without accident, or undue delay, the designers feel.

FHA Offers Farmer Loans

Loans to family farmers for adjustments and farm improvements are now available through the Farmers Home Administration, according to Charles F. Burriel, Hancock County FHA supervisor.

If eligibility requirements are fulfilled, Burriel said, loans may be made to buy livestock, farm and home equipment, feed, seed, lime, and fertilizer.

Primary purpose of the plan, Burriel explained, was to aid family farmers in making both their homes and farms more efficient. Under some conditions funds may be obtained to refinance debts secured by liens on livestock and equipment.

Loans may run from one to seven years, Burriel said, with the amount depending upon the applicant's need and plan of operation. Similarly, the number of years allowed for repayment will be based on the anticipated revenue and the purpose of the loan.

Applicants for the operating loans should be made to the Farmers Home Administration which has its offices in the Agricultural Center Building on Necaise Ave.

Congressional Sidelights

COTTON ACREAGE FIGHT

On June 10th a California Congressman, Allan Oakley Hunter, introduced a bill to fix the 1954 base for the allotment of cotton on the acres planted in the years 1951, 1952, and 1953. This bill would obviously have favored the Johnny-come-lately cotton producers in the irrigated areas of the West at the expense of the South, where cotton has reigned as king for seventy-five to one hundred years.

It was estimated, for example, that this bill would cost the State of Mississippi up to 800,000 acres and would put many of the 80,000 Mississippi families dependent upon cotton as a livelihood out of business.

Members of Congress from the historical cotton states vigorously opposed the proposal, and when it appeared that they had it defeated, the westerners switched to support of the plan proposed by the Farm Bureau. This provides that no state shall be cut less than 27 1/2 percent. Except for 2 1/2 percent, however, this bill is almost identical with what the western "corporate late-comer" producers originally sought, and is therefore, just about as objectionable as the Hunter Bill.

As the matter now stands neither the House nor Senate's Agriculture Committee has reported out a bill. The western bill has been stopped, but our friends on the committees cannot afford to report out any bill for fear that the westerners would use it as a vehicle to attach their amendment from the floor.

So at the moment the result is a stand-off. For those of us who represent the Southern cotton states this has become a period of watchful waiting.

However, in this problem, as well as in all others which are considered by the Congress, the Administration in power wields a big stick. The pressure on the White House and the Congressional leadership by other sections than the South for what they consider a more equitable distribution is strong. In discussions with Republican leaders we have gained the definite impression that the leadership feels that it cannot ignore this pressure. There is a strong desire therefore on their part to get out some type of bill from the Agricultural Committee of the two Houses and if at all possible to enact a law

Conservation News

During the droughty periods of the spring and summer the question of when will some rain fall is very important. The farmers would do most anything if they could just get some water for their crops. Though they cannot make it rain there is something that can be done to help make a good crop even though a droughty period comes during the crop growing season.

Many farmers have learned by proper selection of land for row crops and by using proper management of the soil that it is possible to reduce the harmful effects of droughty periods.

In selecting the soils for use in growing row crops it is worthwhile to consider how well the soil can and will supply moisture for crop production is based upon the ability of the soil to soak up, hold, and make the moisture available while the crops are growing. The ability of the soil to do these things depends upon the nature of and the thickness of the two upper layers of the soil.

The first layer of the soil, which is the layer commonly called the topsoil, helps determine how much water can be soaked up during showers while the ground is wet. The topsoil usually contains more silt and is more porous than the second layer and as a result water can soak into it easier and faster.

The second layer, or the subsoil, usually contains more clay and is tighter than the topsoil. Consequently rain water cannot move through this layer as fast and slows down when it reaches this depth. Thus the subsoil plays a very important part in the matter of how fast water can soak into the ground during big rains or rainy spells. The reason for this is that even though the topsoil lets rain water into the ground pretty fast the water has to slow up when it reaches the second layer. The ability of the subsoil to take up moisture is not the same in all soils. The amount of clay influences how the water moves within this layer.

The slower water movement in the subsoil makes the thickness of the topsoil very important in storing and holding rain during sudden spring and summer showers. If none, or very little, of the topsoil has been washed away by erosion the topsoil may be able to hold all of the shower. If the thickness of the topsoil has been reduced by erosion, then it will not be as likely to hold of the water from the shower.

Any of the rain from these showers which cannot soak into the ground not only is lost when it is badly needed to help produce crops but it may further damage the field by washing away more of the topsoil. Every effort should be made to protect the topsoil against erosion so its water holding capacity will not be lowered. This can be done by using the latest conservation measures.

During the big rains, which fall for a long period of time, the thickness of the second layer is more important for water storage than the topsoil. While the topsoil is only a temporary storage place, this lower layer is the main storage tank. It is the amount of water stored in this layer, and which is available to the crops, that determines how long the crops can grow and not suffer from the lack of moisture during the periods of drought.

There are some soils in south Mississippi that are so sandy that they do not have a real subsoil. The sand just goes on down. These soils take up a lot of water but do not hold it very well for use during dry periods. They require special handling for successful use as crop land.

There are some soils on which crops may suffer from other lack for moisture during droughty periods even though they contain a lot of water. These soils usually hold so much water during wet seasons, especially in the spring, that row crops are damaged by too much water.

The Soil Conservation Service technicians, who work with the various Soil Conservation Districts, make conservation surveys showing the different soils. The conservation surveys also indicate the ability of the soils to soak up, hold, and make moisture available for crops. These technicians use this information in helping farmers to select the land on their farms that is best suited to row crops, pastures, and other crops. They also recommend the establishment of conservation measures to protect and improve topsoil and its ability to soak up the rain.

J. D. Hill and his brother, L. L. Hill, of Hattiesburg, recently bought a farm in the Rawls Springs Community. They made some preliminary plans about which land to use for row crops. However, assistance was requested from the Soil Conservation Service technicians. A conservation survey of the farm was made and the nature of their soils was explained to them.

After this explanation the Hills realized their original plans would have to be changed. J. D. Hill stated, "I see that we will have to change our plans and fence out this best land for crops. We can put the pasture on the water-natured land that we had first selected for cropping."

Tommy Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Ward, was bitten by a rabid dog last Friday while playing at his home on Main St.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Stevens announce the birth of their third child and first son, Wade Staehle, Thursday, July 23, in Austin, Texas; he weighed nine pounds, six ounces.

His mother is the former Georgia Rose Staehle, daughter of William Staehle of this city.

Sandy Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Piazza, arrived Saturday, July 25, at 3:45 a. m. at Picayune hospital.

Sandy, the Piazza's first child, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Sam Piazza of Bay St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bennett of Picayune. Her mother is the former Beverly Bennett.

Making his appearance at 3:30 a. m. Friday, July 21, at King's Daughters hospital, Timothy Ryan, third son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, weighed seven pounds, seven ounces.

He is the grandson of Mrs. O. Buehler and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ryan, all of Bay St. Louis.

Forestry Service Seeks Your Aid

Area Forester Jack Stewart reports that the Mississippi Forestry Commission needs 14,000 bushels of loblolly, 8,000 bushels of slash, 2,000 bushels of longleaf and 1,000 bushels of shortleaf pine cones to furnish seed for the states two tree seedling nurseries.

Stewart asks that everyone be on the lookout for locations of cones so they may be gathered quickly this fall, as the cone gathering season is too short to allow much time in locating trees bearing an appreciable number of cones once the season begins. The Mississippi Forestry Commission plant to buy from all collectors that present good clean cones collected at the proper stage of maturity.

Stewart says all persons interested in collecting cones this fall should contact him at Bay St. Louis for additional information.

"It is very necessary," Stewart said, "that all collectors know how to test the new crop of pine cones for maturity." He added, "If mature cones are picked, few will open to release their seeds and seeds released will not germinate."

"If a great enough cone volume can be collected by an individual," Stewart states, "the Mississippi Forestry Commission will be glad to enter into a contract to purchase all of the cones the collector gathers. Such contractor should contact Area Forester Stewart or notify the Jackson Office of the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

The Voice with a Smile Serves Mississippi

One of the first things new members of the telephone team learn is being friendly and neighborly.

In training meetings, group discussions and by the example of older telephone employees, all are taught that cheerful courtesy is an important part of telephone service.

And they are encouraged to be neighborly. Service to the public, beyond the call of duty, is recognized by the Theodore N. Vail Award, the telephone medal of honor.

It's no wonder then that customers comment so often on the alert, friendly service of telephone people—and on their "smiling" voices and devotion to duty.

First employee of Southern Bell to win the Vail Award was a Mississippian—Robert W. Taylor, of Winona. He received the honor for outstanding public service during a flood on April 14, 1921.

Legion Salutes End of War

The American Legion happily noted the Armistice of the Korean War.

"We realize that this is not necessarily the end of the conflict," the Legion said. "We are hopeful that our representatives at the Truce Talks will not lose that which was bought with the lives and health of our sons and brothers."

"Many broken men will return to this country. The country owes much to those men who met the enemy far from our shores. They sacrificed their time, health and lives that we would be spared the ordeal of war in our country. War, with its devastation and tremendous loss of civilian lives has been kept away from our homes. Yes, we owe much to these little men who proved themselves to be great men who would die for the same ideals that has made America truly the land of the brave."

"At the end of each war there is much applause for the returning heroes. That applause soon passes away, the broken health of the heroes lingers on. The costs of mending these heroes is tremendous, but it must be remembered that these broken men made it possible for the continuation of America and our way of life, our liberty, freedom and justice is once again assured by the sacrifices of these heroes."

"We, in the American Legion know something of those sacrifices. We, in the American Legion are united together to see that justice is accorded to these heroes. The American Legion has fought a continuous battle in Congress to gain and keep the few benefits allowed to the veterans. The American Legion will continue to fight for those rights and benefits bought at a price so dear by these protectors of our liberty, freedom and justice, and our country itself."

"Join the American Legion in its fight to honor and repay these

"IT CAN'T BURN DOWN," ROD HAND PROMISES . .

It's as fireproof as you can make it, he says

"It can't burn down. A hurricane can't knock it down."

"It's about as fool proof as you can make it."

That's how husky Rod M. Hand, project manager for the new Bay St. Louis Bridge described his latest construction success.

"It'll last for a long time," he said, and he was the man to know. Hand, who at six feet three inches looks as if he could have built the bridge single handed, deserves much of the responsibility for giving the Gulf Coast its newest link in the Old Spanish Trail.

His firm, Merritt Chapman and Scott, obtained the building rights on the project when they dreamed up the mass production scheme by which they made most of the bridge on shore.

Hand came to the site, and picked Henderson Point as his construction yard. Immediately he was faced with a new problem.

One of the machines, a giant called a gaudry, would not perform with the authorized steam pressure. Hand brought in air pressure to aid the lift, and with sceptical eyes surrounding him, proceeded to make it work.

Hand's record on the bridge is a masterful one. Using a process unique to this country of floating the deck slabs into place, Hand was constantly harassed by the changing winds and tides. In spite of the dangers only one span of 489 was lost, a remarkably low percentage of .002.

Hand is no new comer to the construction business. He started with his father in Toronto, Canada and has been in it for 30 years.

Before the Bay bridge he had been charged with the duties of building the foundation for the $43 million Chesapeake Bay Bridge at Sandy Point, Md.

Other jobs with his signature include a tunnel at the Houston Ship Canal, Pasadena, Tex., dock and oil facilities for Creole Petroleum Corporation at Amuay Bay, Venezuela, a pier for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation at Hoboken, N. J. and a highway bridge at Memphis, Tenn.

What's it like to travel around so much? Hand feels that "every Main Street is the same." He calls Boston his home town, but seldom gets to see it.

Under Hand the bridge construction was delayed only one month. Originally it was scheduled for completion by July 1, but a soft spot in the center of the Bay caused deep, 185 foot piles to be driven.

Hand, 51 years old, has a wife and 19 year old daughter. He does not know where Merritt, Chapman and Scott will send him next. But it's certain to be a big job.

Pass Doctor Called For Toll

Many people, especially people who live in the area, may complain about the fact there is a toll of 25c to pay for the pleasure of crossing on the new Bay bridge. But actually there probably would not have been a bridge without the toll.

The story behind the story is a typical one of progress. The idea came from a realist, a man who had just witnessed a disaster.

Dr. Donald D. Rafferty of Pass Christian had seen on September 19, 1947 a terrifying hurricane wreck whole spans of the wooden, rickety bridge crossing the Bay of St. Louis.

Then, the next year, he saw a fire wipe away the entire section from the draw bridge to Henderson Point.

It was then that Rafferty, the Pass Christian doctor, called for a toll. He said the toll was necessary to pay for the bridge. The toll was 25c.

Urge Co-operation
Vaccinating Dogs

According to Dr. C. M. Shipp, Hancock County Health Officer, many people are not cooperating in the dog vaccination program.

Within the past few days, two dogs in Bay St. Louis have been examined for rabies by the Hancock County Health Dept. and found to have been positive. One child is now being given the Pasteur treatment for rabies. The worry of the parents and discomfort of the child could have been avoided if everyone had seen to it that their dog was vaccinated.

At the present time your health department is carrying on a very intensive rabies vaccination program. This program is for the protection of the people of Hancock County. It is estimated that approximately seventy percent of the dogs have been protected. The remaining thirty (30) percent is cause for very grave concern among health officials. These few dog owners are only punishing their neighbors and friends by their refusal to cooperate in the vaccination program.

The health department has no desire to impound dogs and bring recalcitrant dog owners into the courts. It is hoped that public opinion will force these few people to cooperate and have all dogs inoculated before drastic action is deemed necessary. If you have a

Play Two Games
This Weekend

Sporting a 5-3 record, the Bay Seniors will play one home and one away game this weekend with no game scheduled for Saturday.

Friday the Seniors will meet St. Augustine's Seminary in a morning game at Christmann Memorial Field. It will be the first meeting of the two teams this season.

Sunday the Bay boys will meet Kiln's Wildcats on the Kiln field at 1:30 p. m. The local outfit will seek to repeat its early season win over Kiln which the Seniors took by a 4-2 count.

Last Sunday the Seniors split a a double bill, taking their first game from the Pass Christian Sea Scout, 9-5 and dropping the late fray to the Benvenuti Bay Bourbons 6-2.

The Seniors held the Sea Scouts to only one hit, which was given up by Captain Chris Bell. Bell was relieved in the third by Charlie Taratavouille who pitched fine ball, allowing no safe bingles.

In the second game the Bourbons avenged an early season loss by holding the Seniors hitless with the superb pitching efforts of J. D. Luc. The Seniors jumped to a 1-0 lead in the opening frame, but he Bourbons countered with two in the third and four in the fifth in the seven inning game. Luc struck out 15 while losing pitcher Billy Taylor gave up six hits.

SYMBOLS OF PROGRESS

The new bridge across the Bay of St. Louis is symbolic of the progress that has been made in Mississippi during the last few years. Not too many years ago such a tremendous bridge certainly could not have been justified by the amount of traffic which would use it. Today it is amply justified.

Increased tourist business, estimated to be worth more than 250 million dollars annually with over half being spent on the Coast, accounts for part of the increase. However, Mississippi's tremendously improved economic position must be given most of the credit.

Recent studies indicate that during the period from 1939 through 1952 Mississippi's rate of gain in nineteen out of thirty-two important economic indicators was greater than that of the South and of the nation. To name just a few—Mississippi led in mining output, farm cash income, value of manufactured products per capita income and electric power production. All these, of course, are in part of gain, and they illustrate the speed with which the state has recently been developing.

This development will continue and the massive concrete and steel bridge is an excellent monument to the state's progress.

Still some folks seem to think we are the Rural Electrification Administration which is part of the government. But we are no more government than the local bank, lumber yard, marketing co-op or variety shop. REA has loaned us money that we are paying off as fast as we can with interest. We aren't costing the government money, and besides we are making jobs for local people as well as labor, manufacturers and dealers all over the country. We're set up as a co-op which is real democracy in business. But we are still a business, incorporated under law to do business. This co-op is locally owned, locally controlled to give service to farm members and to help benefit this whole community.

Welfare Rules Are Explained

Eligibility requirements provide that applicants for Mississippi old age assistance must be residents of this state for at least one year.

Mrs. Gladys Haas, Hancock County welfare agent, explained this week.

Once an applicant has obtained assistance, he can receive his check for a three month period following his absence from the state.

Exceptions are made, however, in case of personal or family illness.

Persons receiving aid from the Mississippi Department of Welfare who move from one county to another may continue to receive aid if the county or state welfare office is notified of the change of address.

—Mrs. F. W. Adams, Long Beach, who was admitted to Gulfport Hospital Monday, is reported as doing nicely. Mrs. Adams' left leg was broken hip in a fall at her home.

Mississippi Power Tells of Growth

Gulfport—L. P. Sweatt, president, Mississippi Power Company, and officials of The Southern Company, of which the Mississippi Power Company is an operating unit, told members of the Agricultural and Industrial Board of the plans of the company to assist in the acceleration of agricultural development in Mississippi and the South.

Representatives of various industries have appeared before the Board to state their objectives and describe their activities. Governor Hugh White presided.

Mr. Sweatt called attention to the fact that Mississippi led the Nation and the South in percentage gain in 16 of the 27 major economic indices in the period 1940-52 and gave the Agricultural and Industrial Board a large measure of credit for this impressive record. He reported that from 1942 to June 1 of this year 110 new manufacturing plants were located within Mississippi Power Company's service area, with a plant investment of over 18 million dollars, employing 8,000 persons and having annual payrolls of approximately 12 million dollars.

Many of these plants have expanded one to four times, he said, and stated that the fair and equitable treatment given industries by local government authorities had considerable influence on decisions to expand.

State Cuts Fire Loss

Washington, D. C.—Mississippi which has been operating a Keep America Green fire prevention program since 1945, last year reduced its losses from forest fires by nearly 200,000 acres and reported 5,183 fewer forest fires.

The Mississippi record, according to American Forest Products Industries, which this week issued a comprehensive fire report on the 48 states, was achieved in the face of a 15 percent increase in forest fires and a 30 percent increase in acreage burned last year.

During 1952 a total of 29,918 fires burned 844,170 acres in Mississippi. During 1951 a total of 31,101 fires, burned 1,084,135 acres.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Johnson and their daughter, Guyanne, of Off City, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Bennett and daughter, Mary Catherine Maloney, at their home in Logtown last week. The Johnsons remained in Logtown until Saturday when they left for Florida on their way home.

—Mr. Walter Seidel of New Orleans, brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Dwyer, visited the O'Dwyers Sunday.

Kancha Ketchum

According to reports there will be no fishing allowed on the new Highway bridge over the Bay. "That's Bad," says the enthusiastic fishermen who had hopes of having a long needed place to do his crabbing and fishing of his heart's content.

Fishing as a whole has been just fair to middling lately. Fresh water fishing in nearby streams has been on the shady side—while salt water fishing at Half Moon and other outside places has been good, says His Honor Mayor John Scafide and Alden Maffray who caught a hamper full of those big yellow mouth speckles last Sunday.

Herbert Wise and his brother, Hugh Wise, who is chief scout for the Boston Braves, enjoyed a fishing trip out from Bayou Caddy this weekend. Herb says Russ Elliott at Bayou Caddy fishing Camp and the boys treated them royally.

It looks good to see Gene Davis "up the river again," with Bob and "Little Bob" Genin after being laid up with a bad tooth for quite a while. They were pulling them in Sunday at Pearl River.

Tom Ketchings, of Tom L. Ketchings Co., Natchez, Miss., with A. C. Mitchell and party were after the speckles over the weekend. Didn't get their report as yet!

B. D. Hougue says he is going to glass rods from now on, after breaking two bamboo fly rods Saturday. He has been having good luck otherwise with the Blue Gills and green trout up Pearl River.

C. C. McDonald Jr., and Eddie Heath say they are returning to fishing now that the racing series are over—hope they do as well at fishing as they did at sailing.

News for boat renters at Logtown, Miss. Tom Yeager has plenty of good skiffs at the mouth of Bogue Homa for rent. Just drive to the North end of the old commissary building and took the horn twice and Tom will be there with a boat. He's a good guy to deal with.

Ted Rebois said today, there's no use fishing for fresh water fish in Jordan River at this time, something has gone haywire.

Cotton Quotas Being Formulated

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced that preliminary work necessary for acreage allotments and marketing quota programs on the 1954 cotton be started immediately.

The final determination on whether acreage allotments and marketing quotas are to be proclaimed on next year's cotton crop will be made later, when more is known about the supply and prospective demand situation.

The necessary preparatory work for cotton acreage allotments and marketing quotas includes the collection and compilation of basic data for individual cotton farms which must be completed prior to September 1, 1953.

Therefore, Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman, of the Hancock County PMA Committee urges each farmer in Hancock County who planted cotton in 1953, if he has not already done so, to furnish the County PMA office with the estimated number of acres planted to cotton in 1953, as all 1953 cotton acreage will be measured.
